Estate: Hansjörg Rebholz is the owner/winemaker of this 42 acre estate in Siebeldingen in the Pfalz, now in its third generation. Hansjörg carries on the legacy of his Grandfather Ökonomierat Eduard Rebholz, following strict guidelines that include an understanding of climate, soil character and selection of vines suited to terroir. This estate never Chaptalizes and ferments their wines dry. The estate is now certified organic. The most important vineyards are Im Sonnenshein and Birkweiler Kastanienbusch. The vineyards are planted to 35% Riesling, 25% Pinot Noir, 25% mixed Pinot Blanc, Pinot Gris and Chardonnay and the rest Gewürztraminer and Muskateller as well as other varietals. The Rebholz Estate is a member of the VDP.

Winemaking: 100% organic. Stainless steel fermented. The Pinot Noir fruit is free run resulting in the light salmon tinged color. The impressive acid structure will allow this wine to age perfectly for several years.

Tasting Notes: Smoke, spicy flavor, with notes of fresh herbs and pomegranate aromas. Very elegant mineral notes, a very harmonious triad between fresh herbs, steamed garden vegetables and fresh apples. Minerals and citrus aromas in the aftertaste. This wine pairs well with a variety of foods and has fantastic aging potential.
